NURSERY SOIL WOOD COAL

Loving this Spring - rain, warm days then rain again. Last weekend and Monday were too hot for me to work in the garden - except in the early morning while the dew was still on grass.

Such an abundance of flowering right now - Rhododendrons, Azaleas, Peony Roses, Iris, and fresh green on hedging and trees everywhere we look. This is the time for planting - but never in the heat of the day - wait until the end of the day or better still, wait and plant on a dull day if possible. I am busy most days weeding and pricking out flower and veg seedling into punnets. I like to keep every space in the garden filled to not only look amazing, but also to leave no room for weeds to take hold. Those that do persist, need to grow fast to the light, which makes them easy to pull. A full garden also keeps plant roots shaded and less evaporation after watering.

Sow Summer flowering seeds now and leave to germinate in a well lit semi shaded area. Too sunny and the mix dries out too quickly, too shady and seedlings grow too fast looking for light. Once seedlings come through, leave until a set of two leaves fully form, then prick out carefully into punnets and water often while tiny with a soft spray until firm enough to cope with a stronger hosing. Once plants have filled punnets with roots, they can be planted out into the garden and should thrive.

This is the perfect time to get Children involved in gardening by planting Sunflower seeds, so they can watch the plants grow fast and taller than them - Runner Beans are great for growing over bamboo or wooden lengths shaped into a teepee tent shape, for the Bean runners to grow over, to form a green living tent for them to play in and produce fresh Beans. Children love Peas, Carrots and Radish and all Berries straight from the garden. Also by planting Swan plants, Monarch Butterflies will visit, lay eggs to hatch for Children to watch grow into fat caterpillars before creating a chrysalis to grow a beautiful Butterfly - nature at it's best - that is touch, smell, taste and happening in real time.

Peony Roses are stunning right now in bud and flower. It pays to put supports under them to hold up the heavy flowers and because they are growing so fast, I have tall wire supports shaped like a u that are pushed into the ground, with the rounded top in place to let them flop over and stay in place. They need the water kept up. I have some crowns that were planted last season, so have let only one flower develop to see what it is like and removed any others. I will cut the one blooming flower off before it makes seed pods. A clump will form much faster if you do not let it flower for the first two years.

Hybrid Clematis: (those large flowered Clematis) are shooting skyward now - you have to be quick to train them onto supports or they will just find their own way over plants. Direct them while trailers are still soft - they like a lot of feeding to take them to great heights - manure is great. Don't worry if you have one with no buds just yet - they all have different flowering times. If you have just put one in this year, let it flower then cut it to the ground - this will make it put up more shoots and you will have a much bushier and stronger climber. If you have one that looks dead with the ends wilting, I am afraid it has the wilt and should be cut off at the ground. Don't remove it, because I have known some to shoot away again the following year - Climatis also like lime.

Ponds: Will have heated during all that hot weather, which will have encouraged slime - this needs to be removed before getting into fish gills. Barley straw works for reducing slime forming. Wrap in netting and weigh down with a rock. Shallow ponds need shade - plants or shade created during a hot day plus cold water going into a warm pond, will help fish over heating. Fish should be breeding now and will need a plant like oxygen weed, for female fish to blow eggs into so they are not eaten by the male fish.

Lawns: Grass, Grass. Grass...So much mowing! If like me you have not had to spray the weeds out yet, you can sprinkle your clippings around the garden - it is wonderful humus. Don't leave thick piles - spread it out so it can break down fast. Your garden can take as much fresh green growth that you can throw at it, now the warmth is here to break it down. Sow new lawns and fill bare patches with the right lawn seed for the lawn you require.

Fruit: Blossoms have moved on to forming fruit - Gooseberries, Currants, Strawberries, Pip and Stone fruit, seem to be all cropping well. Remember to keep water up when needed while fruit is plumping. Veg: Keep planting Veg seeds and plants, a few at a time so you can have the continuous thing happening. If you put too many in at one time, they will all bolt at this time of the year. The ground is warm enough for Corn, Beans Pumpkins and Courgettes to be planted. Cheers, Linda.

Oamaru Santa Parade celebrates the district's diversity

The diversity of the Oamaru district, both culturally and economically, will be centre stage for the annual Oamaru Santa Parade to be held on November 30th.

Organiser Anton Roswell said the Parade, which will feature some very special guests this year, celebrates not only the cultural diversity of the district, but also the role that agricultural and industrial businesses play in the growth of the town.

“Our key sponsors, which include McDonalds, Whitestone Contracting, Rainbow Confectionery, the Otago Licencing Trust, The Warehouse, the Oamaru Licencing Trust, The Oamaru Telegram and Central South Island Helicopters, operate businesses that are giving back to our community via employment and sponsorships. “These businesses are long established in Oamaru and North Otago and see participation in the Parade as an opportunity to not only showcase their involvement but to provide enjoyment for the people of Oamaru and visitors alike. “It is also their way of saying “thank you” for the ongoing support from Oamaru and North Otago.” Oamaru’s Santa Parade traditionally attracts a number of cultural, ethnicity and church groups, and this years Parade will also feature participants which honour the agricultural and industrial heritage, Mr Roswell said.

“The Parade will not be totally made up of floats and trucks,” Mr Roswell said. There will be vintage vehicles including cars and tractors, live animals including horses, members of local car clubs with their vehicles, giveaway sweets, plus others to be revealed on the day. “We are honouring the heritage and those who are putting back into the community,” he said. Central to the Parade of course, will be the jolly round man in his red suit – Santa Claus.

“The appearance of Santa in his specially built sleigh complete with his reindeer, is always the most awaited part of the parade,” Mr Roswell said.

“Watching the faces of the children and those of their parents when Santa comes into view is something very special.”

The 2019 Christmas Parade will also see some very special guests who will be well known to children and parents alike, according to Mr Roswell. “I am reluctant to announce who they are ahead of the Parade but we are delighted they will be part of the Oamaru Santa Parade this year,” he said.

Oamaru’s businesses should also benefit from extra pedestrian traffic in town to see the Parade, Mr Roswell said.

“The Parade is held on a Saturday, which means the shops will be open and Christmas shopping will be well underway. The Parade will provide a great introduction to Christmas and the holiday break.”

Oamaru’s Santa Parade will begin at McDonalds AT 11AM on Saturday, November 30, and finish outside the Oamaru I-Site in Thames Street. Key sponsors for the event are Central South Island Helicopters, McDonalds, Whitestone Contracting, Rainbow Confectionery, Oamaru Licencing Trust, The Warehouse, Whitestone Contracting and The Oamaru Telegram.

Spiers of Ayr Panel Plane

When you are working with wood the golden rule of hand tools is that you keep them sharp and you keep them clean. In this day and age, an electric tool will keep on working most of the time, despite being dirty and blunt. If you are a D I Y 'er that may be acceptable, but to a craftsman that won't do at all. More importantly you want your tools to last and you need to know that your tool will perform perfectly all the time. If you were to acquire, say a Spiers of Ayr Panel plane built/made anytime between 1840 & 1920, then you already know that it will perform perfectly today just like it has over the last 100 years. Check out the one at Waitaki Trading Co.

TRUFFLES

RealFood Pantry

1 cup raw pecans, 1 cup raw walnuts, 1 Tbsp cacao powder or unsweetened cocoa powder, 1/4 tsp sea salt, 10 medjool dates, pitted (if dried out, soak in warm water for 10 minutes then drain)

1 1/4 cups dairy-free dark chocolate, (real chocolate bar, not chips), roughly chopped, 1 tsp coconut oil.

1. Place pecans and walnuts in a food processor until it reaches the consistency of a meal. Remove and set aside in a dish.
2. Place pitted dates in the food processor and process until small bits remain and/or it forms into a ball.
3. Then add in the cocoa powder and 1/2 of the nut meal and pulse. Continue pulsing and adding the nut meal a little at a time until a loose dough is formed.
4. Once you have a dough that's easy to form into balls, scoop out 1 Tablespoon amounts and roll/carefully form into balls. Set on parchment paper and place in freezer to chill - makes 14 truffles.
5. Melt chocolate in a double boiler or in the microwave in 30 second increments. Be careful not to overheat. Once melted, stir in coconut oil to help the chocolate thin and ease the dipping process.
6. Remove truffles from freezer and dip them into the melted chocolate. Use a fork to remove tap away excess chocolate. Transfer back onto parchment paper and top with sea salt, crushed pecans, or cacao nibs.
7. Let set at room temperature. Store leftovers in an airtight container at room temperature. Transfer to freezer for longer term storage.

The fight against diabetes is one of our global causes and we're partnering with the International Diabetes Federation to take on diabetes.

For far too many in our community, the first sign that something is wrong comes far too late. Diabetes is now the 8th leading cause of death around the world, contributing to more than 5 million deaths per year, and the numbers are rising. But it only takes small steps to prevent millions from developing type 2 diabetes.

Diabetes is one of the most pervasive and fastest-growing diseases in the world today. It affects people of all races, income levels, and ages-even children.

We must raise awareness of diabetes to prevent friends and neighbours from developing this disease. Lions and Leos are confronting this global health emergency by raising awareness of diabetes through events, expanding access to care through screening and treatment programs, and improving quality of life through diabetes camps and community recreational programs. Lions Clubs International Foundation is responding to this global epidemic by committing to help prevent diabetes and improve the quality of life for those who have been diagnosed with diabetes.

All the Lions Clubs in Oamaru and Lions International in conjunction with Diabetes NZ and Oamaru Pharmacy are proud to help with the fight against diabetes by providing FREE blood checks on the 15th of Nov from 8.30am-1.30pm.
