With information getting easy and fast to access, it is leaving us open to Cybercrime. When it would have taken hours to steal all your photos and information - now takes seconds. There is and always is, an increased number of emails being sent, pretending to be local suppliers of goods and services. My advice is - never click, or install anything in your emails. Especially if they are threatening to close your account, sending unexpected overdue bills, or getting you to update your details. Check that the reply email address and sending address match the business it is from, before replying. If in doubt, look their number up and give them a call. Remember it only take a second or two to double check and have a think before working on your emails. Keep safe... Until next week Regards, The Telegram.

A lovely weekend just past and much needed rain last week for North Otago - Spring growth is now up and away, judging by the explosion of Blossom, Spring Bulbs and deciduous trees now showing green.

Hydrangeas are budding to leaf - the perfect time to feed and give a good soak - a dressing of Lime for pink and Alum Sulphate for blue.

Roses are top priority right now. Things to watch out for are die back after frost damage - not all branches make the grade.. If they have been affected, cut them right back to new growth. Also watch for growth below the graft - it comes up from the root stock, is usually a different colour and leaf to the grafted branches - cut right out. All Roses are grafted onto a strong root stock. Green fly can be controlled - they start on the new growth tips so can be removed with finger and thumb. I have not sprayed my Roses in the last few years, choosing instead to feed them well with aged manure in late Winter, then folia feed once leaves have fully grown. Some still succumb to Black Spot - I just remove affected leaves.

Planting: It's all on now for planting seedlings in flower and veg gardens and sowing seeds for Summer colour. Here are some suggestions. Wild flowers, Cottage plants, Nasturtiums, Lobelia, Petunias, Nemesia, Lavatera, Salvia, Marigolds. Spring is a time when seeds can be sown directly where you want them to grow or if you prefer not to compete with weeds, sow in seed trays or bedding 4 and 6 packs to develop roots.

Perennials are pushing up through mulch now. Hosta's are making a move, but there is still time to put the spade through clumps big enough to divide. Slice cleanly through with a sharp spade and transplant where needed.

Peony Roses are also pushing up fast... carefully clear mulch from around them to let sun in. Be very careful not to damage the new shoots.

Cyclamen: If you were given a Cyclamen in flower back in May, it is time to plant it outside in a cool shady spot to finish the growing year. Pot up again just before Winter for indoor flowering.

Lawns: Lawnmowers are out again... avoid cutting too low, as grass is still recovering from Winter dormancy. Scalping opens gaps for weeds to take hold. If Daisies and flat weeds are a problem, lawn spray will work now. I don't want to harm worms or good bacteria in lawns, so I only spot spray. Vegetables: If you have never grown Veg but intend to grow your own food this growing season, it is not hard. A small patch of open ground in a warm spot dug deep and weeded, could produce a good amount of Veg with successive planting and sowing. Rows of Peas or Beans grown up netted supports can also act as a wind break at one end of the patch, with rows of Beetroot, Lettuce, Brassicas, root Veg then Potatoes at the end, with room for mounding the Potato rows. Ground that has not grown plants before, will not need building up with manure or fertilizer this season.

Potatoes to plant now as an early crop are Rocket, Cliffs Kidney, Jersey Benne and Maris Anchor.

Fruit trees in Blossom are looking for Bees, Raspberries and Gooseberries are showing leaf. Still time to thin out a Gooseberry bush to let light in for good fruit development and easier picking.

Cheers, Linda.

Moist Fruit Cake

2 1/4 cups raisins, 3 cups sultanas, 1 cup currants, 1 cup chopped glace cherries, 1 1/2 cup coarsely chopped prunes, 1/3 cup Golden Syrup, 1/2 cup brandy, Finely grated rind of 1 orange, 250g butter, softened to room temperature, 1 cup firmly packed Dark Cane Sugar, 5 eggs, lightly beaten, 1 1/2 cups plain flour, 2 tsp mixed spice, 1 Tbsp brandy, as an optional extra

Preheat oven to 140°C conventional. Avoid fan forced when cooking fruit cakes, as the longer cooking time tends to dry out a fruit cake. Line base and sides of deep 20cm square cake pan with 3 thickness baking paper. Allow paper to come 5cm above the sides of the pan. Combine fruit, Golden Syrup, brandy and rind in large bowl; cover and allow to macerate overnight. Beat butter and dark cane sugar with electric mixer until creamy. Add eggs, beating well between each addition. The mixture will curdle slightly - don't be concerned as it does not affect the end result. Add macerated fruit to butter mixture. Add sifted plain flour and mixed spice to butter mixture and mix thoroughly. Spoon into pan and drop pan on bench to allow mixture to disperse evenly in pan. Bake cake for 4 hours. Cover loosely with foil if cake starts to over brown on top (this may happen around ½ way through the cooking time). Quarter turn pan in oven several times during baking to avoid it browning unevenly. Remove cake from oven; brush with extra brandy. Allow to cool in pan. Wrap in plastic and then foil and store in cool dark place. Store in airtight container in fridge on hot summer days.

Springology - Waitaki Interiors

Daffodils and Cherry Blossoms have arrived and are welcoming in the start of spring which means it's time to put away your winter coloured accessories and bed linen and bring out those cheerful summery accents.

Spring cleaning fever makes most people want to freshen up some area of their home in time for Christmas. Maybe you want to introduce a feature wall or colour up your bedroom with a new bedspread or duvet cover. Now is the time to get it done before the December rush.

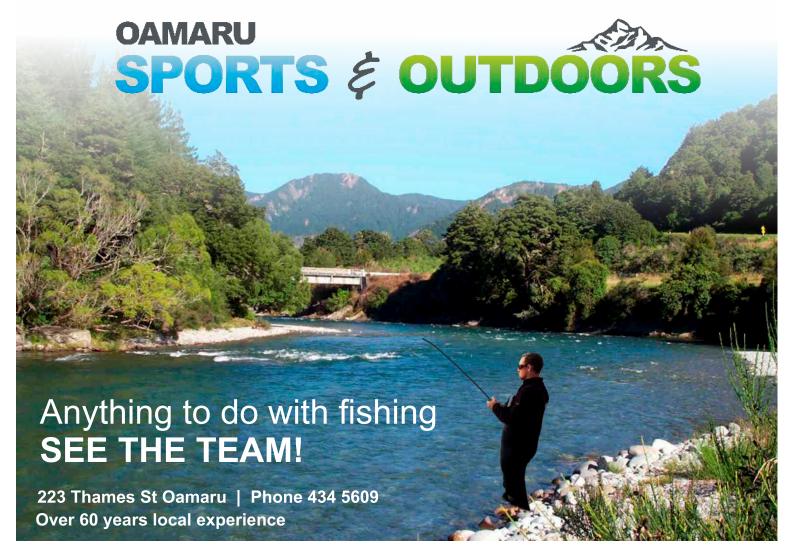

With the arrival of spring we have to prepare for the summer sun ahead. A sunscreen blind can protect furniture from the harsh New Zealand UV rays without obstructing the view while keeping your interior cool.

By adding a contrasting colour to what you already have can make a real visual impact in any room. If you have some red elements consider adding a few yellow or teal accessories to create a bit of excitement. Something as simple as moving a painting from another room and adding a bright new throw can transform a dull corner for spring.

You could paint a piece of old furniture a nice bright colour and add some flamboyant cushions. Therefore it doesn't have to cost the earth to freshen up your home for spring. Pop in and see our friendly team at Waitaki Interiors.

On the Hunt for the Little Blues

Oamaru's little bluey bike trail will keep the kids occupied these school holidays. Waitaki District Council's event coordinator Hayley Cusiel has been working on a great school holiday activity with Ben & Fiona Stratford. The Stratfords holiday in Taupo frequently, and during these holidays they have participated in the variety of family friendly biking routes around Taupo. In particular they thought the treasure hunt bike trail they did last Easter was a concept that could work well in Oamaru and have worked with Hayley to make an inaugural bike trial that's uniquely "Oamaruvian" for these school holidays. 10 blue bikes will be parked along the trail in Oamaru (utilising some of the A20 trail) from Saturday 26 September to Sunday 11 October. Starting in the Harbour bike park area, the trail will make its way to various local spots. Children will have a passport with a map and instructions on it and the hunt will be on to find all of the special blue bikes along the way. Each of the blue bikes will have a different letter. Once the children have collected them all, they then need to unscramble the letters to crack the code and then place their entry at Council HQ. The prizes are $200, $100 and $50 vouchers to spend at any of the three local bike shops and will be drawn after the school holidays. The bikes will be up for the two weeks of the school holidays. Sarka Cibulcova, who recently painted one of Oamaru's Chorus boxes, has painted the little bluey that will be attached to each bike so they are easily identified (although they are all blue!). Mayor Gary Kircher said, "This is another great example of how we can make the Waitaki district the best place to be! It gets our kids out and about, and will be entertaining and fun for all the family! And it is an opportunity to show our youngsters some of the Oamaru area at the same time. It promises to be a popular event!"

Towards an Age-Friendly Waitaki

It's not easy getting older but we can make it easier for everyone as they age.

Seniors add value and character to a community. They have broad skills, expertise and experience, are highly productive in the workplace, form the core of volunteer groups, are active in local politics, and possess considerable spending power.

The Waitaki has proven itself a great place to grow old and to retire to, with safe, friendly and quirky towns, and plenty of activities and attractions within reach.

A quarter of Waitaki's residents are over 65, and that is expected to grow to a third in the next few decades. Age-friendly strategies are critical to making our district a better place in which to grow old. And it's not just the older population who benefit.

A strategically-placed ramp will help not only the older person on a walker, but also the mum with a buggy and the rugby player on crutches. The same applies to good road crossings, footpaths, affordable transportation and access to medical services. Having a range of housing options that allows people to "age in place" by downsizing when appropriate also opens up larger homes for young families on their way up.

With Age-Friendly strategies, the whole community wins! Waitaki District Council through Safer Waitaki, in partnership with Age Concern Otago, are identifying projects that will make our district an even better place to grow old.

Let's Talk about Mental Health - Oamaru Pharmacy

Good mental health is an essential part of our overall health and well-being and is best understood simply as our state of mind. Our mental health will change throughout our lives, influenced by many factors, including our genetic make-up. These factors may also combine or overlap to exacerbate symptoms. Even if we are experiencing symptoms of mental distress or have an existing mental-health related diagnosis, with the right support we can still experience high levels of wellbeing. We all face challenges to our mental health at various times in our lives. The way we are feeling can change how we think and how we deal with tough times. It is important to help people build resilience and stay well, or get better if they are having problems. Some people who experience poor mental health for a long time, or who are highly distressed, may meet the criteria for being diagnosed with a mental illness. Whether you're on a solo mission to boost your mental health, or want to embark on something more collaborative with friends or family, Mental Health Awareness Week provides a wealth of resources to help you on your journey. That journey could simply be learning a little bit more about the importance of improving our mental health, or it could be a starting point for a life-long quest to sustainable wellness & a healthier, happier mind. When you uplift your own wellbeing and happiness, you are more likely to raise the mental health of those around you – particularly your whanau & community. Being out in nature can provide a huge boost to your mental health & wellbeing. Get outside and give it a go! The workplace is a major contributor to mental health. As the NZ Mental Health Foundation says:

"when your mental wellbeing is strong and your workplace is supportive, you will feel more engaged in your mahi, be more productive and have higher morale and job satisfaction". Ultimately, what you get out of Mental Health Awareness Week will be determined by how much you put in. The Mental Health Awareness Week's official website contains a plethora of material to allow you to either dip your toes or dive in head-first. Visit the website here and get involved. https://mhaw.nz/get-involved

There's a range of resources and services available to help including phone and online services and information, as well as face to face support. Most services are free, and provide information and confidential advice from trained professionals. There's also information for family, whānau, or friends if they need advice and support.

Mental Health Awareness Week runs from Monday 21 September until Sunday 27 September. Oamaru Pharmacy will be getting involved with plenty of information and resources. Come on in and feel free to have a chat or grab some information.

Pieces of April - April Hayes Dickson

My husband, the KOR (King Of the Remote) enjoys a war movie as much as the next man. Assuming the next man has seen every war movie ever made and knows the first 15 minutes of "Saving Private Ryan" by heart.

I'm not averse to a good war movie myself and have long been interested in military history but in order to avoid sitting through Tom Hanks heroic arrival on Omaha Beach yet again, I recently suggested we view "WWII in Colour". It's a Netflix docu-series that uses colourized archive footage.

For those of us who grew up seeing both world wars in black and white it's strangely confronting. While much of the footage is familiar it takes on a different life when in colour. Those grainy, grey images of our youth didn't come with rivers of crimson blood or the bluest of blue Aryan eyes staring down the lens.

While it's visually arresting there's a few historical omissions and boo boos. I wasn't too miffed that they had Roosevelt dying of a heart attack (it was a cerebral hemorrhage). But suggesting it was US troops that halted the Japanese march on Port Morseby is factually wrong. And it's particularly galling for a girl whose cousin, Harold "Dutchy" Atkinson, graphically described his war time experiences and the horrors of the Kakoda Track to her.

Just as Hank's Captain Miller was fictional so is the American view of what happened in the jungles of Papua New Guinea between July and December 1942. Lest we forget (the truth). piecesofapril@gmail.com

MUST VISIT – WELLINGTON

The nation's capital is a fantastic compact city to visit which has great shopping, arts and culture and top natural attractions. Of course, no trip to Wellington would be complete without a visit to Te Papa and the iconic red cable car will take you from the busy streets of Wellington up the hillside and from here you can easily access the botanic gardens, Space Place at Carter Observatory and Zealandia Wildlife Sanctuary. Lesser known but definitely recommended is a trip out to Matiu/Somes Island which is a predator-free scientific and historic reserve. Pack a picnic lunch and catch the ferry which runs 7 days a week from Queens Wharf. Offering fantastic views across the harbour to Wellington City, Somes Island is a great place to explore with the opportunity to see many native birds, plants, insects and reptiles including tuatara. Somes Island was used as a quarantine station for both humans and animals, an internment camp and as a military defence position so there are plenty of historic sites to see and stories to

Whether it be wandering the waterfront, relaxing at the inner city beach of Oriental Bay, having a close encounter at the zoo, visiting Cuba Street, enjoying the views from Mount Victoria lookout, experiencing Courtney Place, checking out Weta Workshop or visiting parliament buildings and the iconic Beehive, Wellington has something to offer everyone and is definitely a must visit destination.

Havenwyck Pets

Creating: verb; cause (something) to happen as a result of one's actions.

Calm: adjective; not showing or feeling nervousness, anger, or other strong emotions.

In my youth I bred and showed Guinea Pigs, this started my passion for working with animals. I was able to learn and strive to expand my knowledge whilst working in Kennels/Catteries, on Dairy farms and within the Veterinary Industry as a Qualified Veterinary Nurse. A big part of my self discovery was with the behaviour of all animals, big and small, they all have natural instincts that are stronger than our own; this is due to all species being altered in some way to fit into the human world, and as I discovered this can cause anxiety and fear. Over many years of research I have delved into what I can do to Create a Calm environment for the animals I work with. You will find at Havenwyck Pets

I strive to ensure the animals here are able to express natural behaviours by providing them with enrichment and items within their enclosure to reduce stress. I promote minimal handling for Rabbits and Guinea Pigs - you may ask why - this is due to small mammals being a prey animal, other creatures (dogs, cats, birds) prey on small furry critters for food, when we go to pick them up this simulated a fear response as natural instinct is telling them they may get eaten! Training and positive interactions with help keep your small furry calm if and when you need to pick them up! Come and see me if you would like to learn more! Leanne Wreakes-Fallen. Dip.VN
